Question

Ben Spead · Nov 20, 2015

How do you to a lone ">" in an &html<> block?

I am using &html<> to output some CSS to my page (which is a class-based and not a tag-based page), and the selectors contain the '>' character which the compiler chokes on. How can I escape the '>' so it still displays as such in the web page source but doesn't trip up the compiler?

This is for 2012.2 btw.

#Compiler #HTML #Frontend #Caché