Article
John Paladino · Dec 7, 2015

Welcome everyone!

Welcome to the Learning Services Community. Learning Services includes product training and related material, documentation, videos and online learning. We're in the process or organizing our material to provide you with "learning paths" for topics that you might want to explore, develop new skills, or achieve certification as an expert. This will you learn about our products anywhere, anytime and at your convenience.

There will be a lot more information coming and I encourage you to go to Learning.InterSystems.com to explore the online course offerings available for you already, free of charge.

And, I'm very interested about your experiences in learning.

Source URL:https://community.intersystems.com/post/welcome-everyone-0