
Question

Rich Taylor · Feb 3, 2016

Creating separate thread in Cache

Has anyone come up with a way to create a separate thread of processing that can achieve shared access to a set of objects created from the initial process? The situation is this. There is a large complex set of objects representing a business process. Some of these objects are in-memory only. The desire is to spin off a separate thread that could do some ancillary processing on this data set without slowing down the main process. Any thoughts?

#Caché

Source URL: <https://community.intersystems.com/post/creating-separate-thread-cache>