
Question

John Murray · Feb 14, 2017

DC postings now autofeeding the Google Group - what's the idea?

As well as participating in DC I continue to monitor the Google Group at <https://groups.google.com/forum/#!forum/intersystems-public-cache>

Since yesterday the Google Group has started receiving postings from a user called intersystems.dc. These postings look like they're trying to replicate DC postings, though images don't appear. Nor are there any links leading across to DC, which is where the follow-up comments and answers are likely to appear.

Is this feed something that the DC software is now doing? Or is it some independent person's initiative?

#DC Feedback

Source URL: <https://community.intersystems.com/post/dc-postings-now-autofeeding-google-group-whats-idea>