Ensemble scheduler

Hello!
We have had incidents with the scheduler in some integrations.
The problem is that the scheduler do not execute at seemingly random occasions.
Has anyone else experienced this? If so how have you handled it?
Is there a smart way to be informed about these non events.
I have an idea to build an integration that goes thru all the other integrations, looks at their schedules and compare it with lastrun information in someway but I am not sure if it is doable.
Another scenario occurs during maintenance windows, if there are "tasks" scheduled to be run during that time.
In my understanding they will not automatically run after the downtime if the time of the schedule has passed, how do you solve this?
Hope I have managed to make myself understood and that someone is willing to share if they have any input.

Best regards,

Magnus
