New Video: Application Performance Management

Hi, Community!

Please welcome a new session recording from Global Summit 2017:

Application Performance Management

After watching this video it will be easy to understand how your application is being used and how it is performing.

@David Loveluck discusses the application-level tools and techniques that allow you to monitor how your application is being used at a particular site, what level of performance the user is experiencing, and where resources are being used inside the application.
