Question

Robert Gasper · Aug 8, 2019

Notified about database changes

Just wondering if anyone knows if there is a way to get daily emails or alerts about changes to a cache database. I know that all of that information is contained within the journal files, just wondering if there is a way to bundle it up each day and send it off for auditing, etc.

Any solution where a plain-text/readable format of changes to the cache database could be sent or stored for review would solve the issue.

Thanks!

#Journaling #System Administration #Caché

Source URL:https://community.intersystems.com/post/notified-about-database-changes