Fastest Path to Possible - With Digital Innovation

"The future lies in the hands of those who use data the best", said InterSystems CEO & Founder Terry Ragon at the InterSystems Global Summit 2019. "However, this data is spread across an enormous set of databases and hardware devices, meaning we need to find ways to connect these systems together."

There is, of course, a way: interoperability. But how do you approach interoperability? And most importantly: how can you use it to create better applications and be a better partner to your customers?

Be part of the discussions! Don't miss out and register for the event by clicking right here.

Can't wait to see you in Antwerp!

So, remember:
