Developer Community Release, March 2021

Hi Developers!

This is a release of how did we improve the Developer Community in March 2021. The key features:

- Global Masters badges page
- User mentions page
- Post translation indicator
- Updates in the Jobs section
- Updates to the "New post" button on DC Tag page

See the details below.

Completely new display of GM badges on DC! Now you can see your Global Masters level and the progress of other users.

All badges you earned are displayed in a new way. You can also find out the name of any badge simply by hovering over it.

User mentions page

Completely updated page! We've added sorting of user mentions by posts and comments. Also, now you can easily see what your posts have been translated into other languages - use the sorting by translations.

The screenshot shows the 'Community' tab selected in the top navigation bar. On the left, a sidebar menu lists various profile sections: Profile page, Posts (94), Replies (146), Followers (11), Following (6), Global Masters badges (23), and Mentions (58). A red arrow points to the 'Mentions (58)' link. The main content area displays a list of mentions under the 'All' tab. Each mention card includes the user's profile picture, name, the context (e.g., 'mentioned user in comment'), the source link, and the date. A red arrow points to the 'Translations' tab in the top navigation bar.
