Benjamin is a product manager in the Data Platforms group at InterSystems, focused on the data management and analytics capabilities of the IRIS data platform.

He joined InterSystems in 2010 as part of its acquisition of iKnow, a Belgian startup in Natural Language Processing. Before joining iKnow, he worked at Oracle for 5 years, helping customers take advantage of its data warehousing and analytics products in consulting and sales engineering roles.

Benjamin likes traveling with family (pandemics permitting), cooking with fire (groceries permitting), improv theatre with friends (nobody permitting!) and gaining Global Masters points through reads while he's asleep.
