

---

Discussion

Andre Larsen Barbosa · Sep 29, 2022

I have an "idea", that one day every professional will meet Caché/IRIS.

Hello everybody...

Have you ever wondered, noticed, or experienced the difficulty of finding new professionals with knowledge of Caché/IRIS? Where are people who ended up joining this area through contacts, who didn't exactly leave colleges with this knowledge or notion? Most of these professionals are of the old guard, with knowledge in older languages that end up being "summoned" to learn the new trends to make up for this absence in the job market. Is it just an impression, or does it actually occur around the world?

My idea is to try to "heal" or at least help those who need these professionals. This is my view, as I follow several "boys and girls" who are at the beginning of college and who often haven't even heard of Caché, like me, back in 2011 when I was introduced.

I would like to know if I am "crazy" to think this way, or is this actually the case?

<https://ideas.intersystems.com/ideas/DPI-I-210>

#Other

---

Source

URL: <https://community.intersystems.com/post/i-have-idea-one-day-every-professional-will-meet-cach%C3%A9iris>