Question
Julian Matthews · Jan 16, 2023

Including SQL Tables when deploying between productions

Hi everyone.

I have a use case where I'm using embedded SQL within a Business Process to interact with a SQL table. However, when it comes to deployment into our production, the table wont form part of the deployment package created from the production.

Beyond manually creating the table on the production system, is there a standard way of ensuring that a table needed for a class is created during deployment?

#ObjectScript #SQL #Caché #Ensemble
Product version: IRIS 2022.1